

Mr. Jacob Rothschild ---- Let Me Ask You.....

By Anna Von Reitz

Mr. Jacob Rothschild, Let Me Ask You-----

If a group of French conmen stole your identity, stole your credit cards and racked them through the roof, and left you to pay for it-----would you turn around and give the same group of criminals your new credit cards and let them start all over again? Ah, duh.....no?

That is what we would be doing if we agreed to be represented in any way shape or form by the new governmental services corporation organized "for" us by the Government of France, which is falsely advertising itself as the "New Republic". Which is another issue--- false advertising. You do realize that your new front company has nothing whatsoever to do with our American Republic? But you are willfully seeking to again confuse your "republic" with our "republic" the same way you have sought to confuse your "united states" with our "united states"? Well, it may be a "new republic" all right, but it is certainly not our American Republic, which we are owed restored and in our own control, thank you, very much, Jacob Rothschild.

We have already informed you in person and via your agents in England that we have made other arrangements and that any services provided by any of your new governmental services corporations are purely speculative on your part and acceptance of any services on our parts does not in any way imply agreement or contract or any valid claim for your corporations to be Successors to Contract. We have explained that this is "for cause" based on the bad performance and worse service we have received from Rothschild banks and service companies in the past. The "New Republic" is actually a bid to continue the old "UNITED STATES" which is now insolvent. We didn't like that version. It did nothing but criminally misrepresent us and cause trouble and injustice here and around the world. Good riddance to bad rubbish.

And now, Mr. Rothschild (because you own both the governmental services corporations posing as the "governments" of England and France), could you please explain what you propose to do about the repayment of the American gold to the people it was stolen from by the World Bank and IBRD?

And what about the LARGE outstanding debt the insolvent UNITED STATES owes us? You don't pretend that those two wars in Iraq and Kuwait and countless incursions and "police actions" in other places actually had anything to do with defending a square centimeter of American soil, do you?

You may have heard the news that we have paid off every "note" and particle of debt alleged to be owed by us or any other American this morning.

So now the shoe is on your foot, Mr. Rothschild, and we suggest that you stop your efforts to defraud and abuse and mislead and misinform the American people for profit.

If it is not already abundantly obvious from the words on this page, the Americans are not deceived any longer.
